

AMY RUBIN

The Marcus Jewish Community Center of Atlanta (MJCCA) is very proud to acknowledge Amy Rubin's long-term commitment to the agency. She and her husband, Philip, founded the Harvey Rubin Scholarship Award in 2002 in memory of Philip's father. This merit-based scholarship award recognizes the outstanding leadership of a high school senior in the Atlanta Jewish community. The scholarship award helps a Jewish teen further his/her education, and provides a philanthropic opportunity to give back, through a monetary donation to a program at the MJCCA. In addition to serving as a board member, Amy is currently Chair, MJCCA Program Council, which develops and oversees unique and exciting programming for camps, teens, sports and fitness. Amy previously served as Co-Chair of MJCCA's Strategic Plan; Member of the Camp Barney Medintz Committee, and Chair of the agency's Camp Committee. The MJCCA is proud to recognize Amy's leadership, commitment, impact, and achievement, and sincerely appreciates her dedication of time and talent.
